

At a Glance: Mayor Nickels' Proposed Fire and Emergency Response Levy

The Mayors Plan is as follows:

Revenues

- $229,000,000 Levy
- $29,150,000 in City & grant funds
- $258,150,000 total

Projects

- $133,860,000 on neighborhood fire stations
- $63,160,000 on support facilities
- $18,880,000 on emergency preparedness
- $16,600,000 on marine apparatus
- $232,500,000 in projects
- $25,650,000 in net financing costs

Tax Impact

- Nine Year Levy, grows 1% a year
- For median homeowner ($313,500 this year) $96 the first year, rising to $104 in final year. Average amount of about $100 a year over life of levy.

Details

- 33 fire station projects (that's every station)
 - 13 new stations
 - 5 completely renovated & seismically strengthened stations
 - 15 seismically strengthened stations & partial remodels
- New EOC
- New large saltwater fireboat and a rehabilitated freshwater Chief Seattle
- New Joint Training Facility
- Community disaster response supplies and shelter infrastructure